Today I, Afterhours Social Worker Jesse Curlee took care of J from daytime social workers at the West Seattle visitation center. J was reported to have been removed from his day camp for an unknown reason. J was reported to have had an upset stomach and diarrhea this morning, but J states he feels better now. J chose to eat crackers and apple sauce this evening and watched videos until it was time to transition to the hotel. During transport, J stated his stomach was sore because was restrained by day camp staff, and J states the staff touched him inappropriately. J quickly changed subjects and was calm during the rest of the transport. Arriving at the hotel, J began arguing with another child in care, and asked to go for a walk and chose to walk on the treadmill in the fitness room. J calmed down after two walks and came into the room, and eventually calmed down and went to sleep. J did well when spoken to in a calm tone throughout the evening. He seemed to enjoy simple conversation and did well when he was the only child. 5:55pm took care of J. 10:15pm J transported to Ramada in
